ALBUM THE HOLOCAUST - NAZI PROPAGANDA

Album Description

Beginning in 1933 when Adolf Hitler was appointed Chancellor of Germany, anti-semitic propaganda was distributed across all of Germany in attempt to sway the opinions Germans had about Jewish people. These propagandas promoted the Nazi party and their beliefs.

NAZI PROPAGANDA FILM

Teaching Notes:

This film made by Nazis for the Red Cross falsely depicted the living conditions of Jewish people in the ghettos. It shows that they are well-fed and enjoying life, attempting to cover up the real conditions the Jews were forced to live in, within these ghettos.

NAZI ELECTION POSTER FOR HITLER

Teaching Notes:

This election poster was released during the 1932 election in attempt to make Hitler appealing to the unemployed and financially unstable Germans. It says, "Our Last Hope- Hitler"

HITLER GREETING PAUL VON HINDENBURG

Teaching Notes:

The image in this newspaper shows Hitler after being elected Chancellor of Germany greeting President Paul Von Hindenburg. His body image suggests himself to be non-threatening and respectful.

SIGN NOT ALLOWING JEWISH ENTRANCE INTO PUBLIC BATHS

Teaching Notes:

This image depicts the public baths in Wannsee with a sign stating, "Entrance to Jews is forbidden"

POSTER AGAINST PHYSICAL DISABILITIES

Teaching Notes:

This is a poster depicting another group of people the nazis wanted to eliminate, handicapped individuals. The Nazis believed people with handicaps were inferior and to gain support, they presented these individuals as taking money from German citizens. The poster says, "This hereditarily ill person will cost our national community 60,000 Reichmarks over the course of his lifetime. Citizen, this is your money."
